REAL LIFE IN THE LIGHT OF THE CROSS

Life Application Bible Study

This represents a new (really old) approach to theological instruction. Bible study should be intimate, warm and inviting, transparent and vibrant, filled with pathos as well as logos. Bible study should not be dry and academic. Jesus, Paul and all the biblical writers presented deep biblical truths in ways that are alive and transforming.

Biblical truth, when presented in traditional ways, has become disconnected from the daily realities of life. It has become a remote, abstract and largely irrelevant entity. This is utterly unfaithful to the Scriptures! In the Bible, doctrine is always connected directly and powerfully to the immediate realities of the believers' daily lives. Doctrine is Truth and Truth is life-giving and transformational!

Bible study that is disconnected from the daily realities of life, far too often is interpreted out of context, unbalanced and possibly aberrant; which not only leads believers into inerrant applications but, it also fails to communicate what God is really saying to its hearers.

Real Life in the Light of the Cross: Life Application Bible Study is Christ-centered, instructional, edifying, challenging, encouraging, convicting, transforming, faithful to historic Christianity, but rich in contemporary and relevant application, while it also develops accountably among participants.
